

School Security Easy Read

	We have lots of visitors to our school.
	Visitors come to the school for lots of different reasons.
	They might be teachers from other schools who want to see the wonderful work going on in our classes.
	They might be parents who are thinking of sending their children to the school in the future.
	They might be doing some building work or repairs to the school.
	Some people come in to work with groups of children in activities such as football or drama sessions.
	Professionals such as doctors or dentists come in to school to talk to children, their parents and staff.

School Security Easy Read

	Sometimes our Governors or people that raise money for the school come in for a special assembly.
	Everyone who visits our school has to wear a lanyard.
	This is a ribbon around their neck with a visitor card or badge with their name and photo on.
	Some visitors will have had a special police check done. This is called a DBS check.
	All school staff will have a DBS check done when they start working at the school.
	Visitors that wear a green lanyard have been checked by the police. They can be in the school without a member of staff with them.
	Visitors that wear a red lanyard have not been checked by the police. They need to have a member of staff with them at all times.